

Soil Health Workshop

February 8, 2017

Hamilton Hall in Blue Earth, MN

9 am Registration with Workshop starting at 9:30

Keynote Speaker– Gabe Brown

Also Featuring: Paul Brown and a Local Farmer Panel

Gabe and Paul Brown, father and son, own and operate Browns Ranch just east of Bismarck North Dakota. They specialize in soil health. Practices, and speak across the Midwest about their experience with soil health, grazing, and other farming practices.

This Soil Health Workshop is FREE for all attendees!

Soil, water and sunlight! It is from these resources that all life develops. It is also from these resources that farmers make their living.

The soil beneath us is alive! There are more organisms in a teaspoonful of healthy soil than there are people on earth. It is from this soil life that the nutrients needed to sustain higher forms of life (plants, animals, and people) are derived.

Soil is a biological system. It's health provides the nutrients we need to sustain life thus it must be a focus.

To REGISTER for this event please RSVP no later than February 1st to the Soil and Water Conservation District at 507-526-2388, or email nathan.carr@co.faribault.mn.us

Event Sponsored by Faribault County Soil and Water Conservation District