

Special call on

Mountains and Sustainability

International Symposium on Ice in a Sustainable Society

Bilbao, Basque Country, Spain, 5–10 June 2022

<https://iss.bc3research.org/>

<https://www.igsoc.org/symposia/2022/bilbao2022/>

An extraordinary call for abstracts on mountains and sustainability is open to fill the slots of a special session on mountains in the International Symposium on Ice in a Sustainable Society (ISS), which will take place in Bilbao, Basque Country, Spain, from 5 to 10 June 2022.

Interesting topics include: mountain hydrology, climate, ecology, glaciers, water security, AFOLU, mountain tourism and sports, mountain policy and economics, traditional and indigenous knowledge and culture, among others.

Abstracts will be received until the reserved slots for oral and poster presentations are filled (click on the links above for more information). Selected works will be published in the Annals of Glaciology:

https://www.igsoc.org/annals/a88_call_4_papers.pdf

Come and attend¹ what will be a stimulating, innovative and productive transdisciplinary symposium in a beautiful setting in the north coast of Spain!

Contact: ISS Local Organizing Committee (iss@bc3research.org)

¹ Required and recommended COVID-19 prevention measures will be followed during all ISS-related activities and remote participation options will also be offered. More details will appear soon on the local website.